Guidance News

Kindergarten

Kindergarteners has been busy learning about how to get along and follow the school rules and expectations. Here are the specific topics we have focused our guidance lesson on.

Follow directions

Keep feet and hands to yourself

Listen to be safe

Work together and get along

Be a problem solver by

Use nice talking

Sharing and taking turns

Waiting patiently

For the next couple of weeks, we will learn the importance of making friends and developing good friendship skills.

1st - 5th Grade

In the fall, I start our guidance lessons on teasing and bullying prevention. We discussed the difference between mean teasing, rudeness, and bullying. The main portion of this unit is to teach students problem-solving strategies. During this time, we talked about the importance of getting help right way if the situation is dangerous, hurtful, something important could get ruin, and any bad touching. Students are encouraged to seek out an adult if a friendship problem can not be resolved after trying a couple of strategies.

Parents or guardian,

If you would like me to see your child for any social, emotional, or personal situations, please contact me at 715-261-0052 or mlee@waysauschools.org.

Attendance Matters!

Regular attendance at school is an essential and basic component for students to attain learning, achievement, and success during their school career.

If you notice that your child is having trouble with attending school, it's important to figure out why. Some of the things you should be on alert for are:

1. Your child expresses that they have been bullied or harassed.
2. Your child has difficulties with the morning routine.
3. Your child is having academic difficulties.
4. Your child complains of frequent stomach aches or headaches.

These are all predictors for truancy and absenteeism in the school age child. This may require meeting with school staff, and also a consult with your child's pediatrician.

You may find it helpful to educate your child about the importance of school attendance, and that ATTENDANCE MATTERS now and in their future. Here are some important attendance facts that are supported by research.

FACT: Students with good elementary school attendance have good high school attendance and are more likely to graduate!

FACT: Students who are involved in school activities or after school activities like music or sports have better school attendance and have a significantly greater chance of graduating from high school.

FACT: Students who attend school regularly report having more friends and being happier.

FACT: Good attendance habits students develop while in school will carry over into good work and attendance habits after graduation in employment.

FACT: Students who attend school and graduate have greater incomes than students who do not graduate.

FACT: Regular school attendance can also help students who are learning English by giving them the chance to master the skills and information they need more quickly and accurately even in other subjects!

FACT: Just by being present at school, students learn how to be good citizens by participating in the school community and they learn valuable social skills.

AND ONE MORE: A high attendance rate is more predictive of student graduation than standardized test scores!
